WALT DISNEY'S GOO-FY Adventures

FEATURING THE FOLLY OF...
FRANKENSTEIN!

BETWEEN THE LINES

MORE MUTTERINGS

Hi. Welcome back. Or, if you're just joining us for the first time, glad to see you.

Well, we all seem to have survived our first month here at the new DISNEY COMICS, and we couldn't be more pleased. We're still polishing the process, but all in all we're as wildly enthusiastic as everyone's favorite Goof always seems to be.

Just yesterday as I type this, the first printed copies of DONALD DUCK and GOOFY ADVENTURES arrived from the printers and all work stopped for a few minutes so we could examine the fruits of our labors. Holding those books in our hands, even as you have over the past few weeks, made all the sweat and strain, all the 14-hour days and 7-day weeks, seem worth the effort.

Truth to tell, we're pretty darn proud of those first issues, and I'm just as proud of the people who helped to produce them. So, to our editorial team of Bob Foster, David Seidman, and David Cody Weiss, our Production team of Cris Palomino and Lynn Williams, our Marketing and Promotions teams, and -- most importantly -- the incredible creative teams that have written, pencilled, lettered, inked and colored all those pages, I say "Take a bow, people. You've earned it."

This month, the first of our new DISNEY ALBUMS will premiere, containing classic stories by Disney's most talented creators. Our first issue contains UNCLE SCROOGE AND "THE PHANTOM OF NOTRE DUCK" by Carl Barks, with a new cover laid out by Barks and finished by Larry Mayer. We've also got DONALD DUCK AND GYRO GEARLOOSE. Both come highly recommended. Don't miss 'em.

Next month, we'll present WALT DISNEY'S COMICS AND STORIES #550, a super-sized Anniversary issue, featuring...ah, but that would be telling. Just join us for the celebration and see for yourself.

THE MOST TALKED-ABOUT PRESTIGE-FORMAT MINI-SERIES OF 1990 CONTINUES!

AT LAST! AT LAST! AT LAST!

Set VI of The Carl Barks Library is now available!

Carl Barks is the master comic book artist who wrote and drew over 500 stories featuring Donald Duck, Huey, Dewey and Louie, Uncle Scrooge, Gyro Gearloose, Gladstone Gander, and many other Walt Disney characters. His stories are among the most beloved and sought after of all time and many of the original comic books his work appeared in have become expensive, hard-to-find collector's items.

But Barks deserves to be read, so Another Rainbow is collecting his Disney stories into an oversized, ten-set, thirty-volume hardcover encyclopedia called The Carl Barks Library. Each set of three 9" x 12" books comes in a colorful hand-made slipcase illustrated with a Carl Barks cover. The interior artwork is clearly printed in crisp black and white, just as Barks originally drew it. Details that were hidden by sloppy color before now leap off the pages. The original comic book covers and many special features are reproduced in full color on slick paper.

Set VI is the great catch-all set of the Library that collectors have been waiting for for so long! It has all of the rare giveaways, annual giants and miscellaneous stories starring Donald Duck and his nephews, the irrepressible Uncle Scrooge McDuck, Gyro Gearloose, and others that are so hard to find today in their original editions!

The retail price for each carefully produced three-volume set is $110.00 except for this complex, special set VI which sells for $125.00. These books are available only from selected comic book specialty shops, or directly from the publisher. You can buy one set at a time, or subscribe to the entire Library at a substantial savings. To order Set VI, or to obtain more information about the contents of previous releases and details on subscriptions, send in the handy coupon at right.

GAWRSH!

I GOT MY OWN LETTER COLUMN!

Send to: Disney Comics, 500 South Buena Vista Street
Burbank, California 91521

Dear Editor:

I have one suggestion. Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck and Uncle Scrooge have their comics. How about Goofy? He's always playing second fiddle to everyone else. It's about time he starred in his own comic. There are thousands of Goofy fans out here... How about it?

Lianne Chang
Honolulu, Hawaii

Glad you asked. I feel the same way.

I hope that you like the stories that we're telling about the Goof. They may not be what you might expect, since the Goofys here aren't the modern-day Goofy that you'll find in, say, Mickey Mouse Adventures.

The Goofs whom you see here may be the ancestors of today's Goof or of other Goofy types who pop up around the world. (How else would you explain the amazing resemblance between Goofy and Egypt's Inspector Ghufu, who's in the current issue of Mickey Mouse Adventures?)

Multiple Goofs may seem odd at first--but there have always been different incarnations of our hero. The first version appeared in the 1932 animated short "Mickey's Revue" (even then he was in the Mouse's life) as a bespectacled and whiskery type laughing uproariously at a corny home-talent show.

Soon he became known in various versions as Dippy Dawg, then Dippy the Goof, then the Goof, and finally, at long last, Goofy. There were variations on his appearance, too, until there emerged the superbly ridiculous Goofy of today.

In 1941 began one of Goofy's most successful incarnations: sports hero.

Well, sort of.

Beginning with "How to Ride a Horse," a segment of the feature film The Reluctant Dragon, Goofy demonstrated how to perform every sport from fishing to football--badly. The films even showed ancient Goofs demonstrating the sports of the original Olympics.

In some of these films, there wasn't one Goof--there were thousands. Goofs played every position on every team and filled the stands with Goofy fans. (The ancestors of these Goofs can be seen in last issue's "Balboa de Goofy," where all of Balboa's crewmen are variants on the one, true Goofy.)

Other films starred a Goofy in suburbia, wrestling with the agonies of raising children, traveling the freeways, and suchlike.

The movie screen hasn't seen much of Goofy lately--but the most recent two film Goofs have apparently been ancestors of the current one. In the 1983 featurette "Mickey's Christmas Carol," Jacob Marley was a Victorian Goof. And the upcoming Mickey film, "The Prince and the Pauper," co-stars a medieval Goofy who tries to sell Sno-Cones in the dead of winter. (Disney Comics is planning a graphic novel based on that film, by the way.)

So Goofy Adventures' multiple Goofs are nothing new. There's always been more than one Goofy. As The Encyclopedia of Disney Animated Characters puts it, "We are all from time to time capable of demonstrating his distinctive brand of good-humored folly, of bumbling when we try to excel. Every now and then we are all Goofs."

Just a reminder: please send your letters to participate in our Request Poll!

If you want Goofy to portray a particular person (or people), let us know. Don't send long lists; three or four names will be plenty. If a lot of readers request the same person, we'll see about running an appropriate parody.

NEXT ISSUE: Alexander the Goof conquers the world (or tries to), and wagon-trail leader Goofy leads Mickey, Minnie, Donald, Pluto and other Disney stars through impassible passages--and right into an ambush!
